

As a citizen of the U.S. The FCC like all government agencies needs to vote responsibly and in the best interest of the people of the United States and not a few dozen corporation. If passed item, "Review of the Commission's Broadcast Ownership Rules and Other Rules Adopted Pursuant to Section 202 of the Telecommunications Act of 1996" will jeopardize the security of the United States.

In the United States with so few owners controlling the flow of information we the people will be susceptible to limited information. It is no secret companies like General Electric who have major defense contract and are a major media player will not be able to effectively report on issues such as war because it is in contradiction to their business model. This is only one example.

If this were a public vote it would fail without a doubt. The FCC needs to act in the interest of the people and vote the issue down. If the item passes the FCC has failed to do its job.

Matt Collins